WARM INTEREST IN NEWSBOYS CONTEST IS BEING MANIFESTED

Two New Boys Entered the Contest this Afternoon and all are Working Like Beavers to Win One of the Five Prizes.

The Prize Subscription Contest which was opened to the newsboys of the Daily Independent yesterday is awakening untold enthusiasm among the youngsters. Already they are getting busy and that the race for the five prizes, which were announced in yesterday's issue will be a hot one, is assured.

This afternoon two new boys presented themselves at the office and announced themselves as desirous of becoming members of the Daily's newsboy staff. They will enter the race to win and promise to make the others hustle. The staff will in all probability be doubled before the end of the week as the Independent prize subscription contest is now the chief topic of conversation among the youngsters about town.

The fact of there being five prizes and that the more subscribers the boys get the more money they make is tending to greatly increase the interest. The grown ups are also getting interested and are beginning to show who their favorites are by subscribing with them and getting their friends to do likewise. Everyone of the boys on the staff has already made a neat addition to his list of subscribers and are hustling like trojans.

The enthusiasm among the newsies is intense and the rivalry which is being exhibited proves that the boys are all going into the venture to win if possible. The prizes are on exhibition at this office.

Save the Wharves.

The Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg is about to enter upon a campaign for the betterment of wharves and landings along the river front in Pittsburg, following upon the improvement of waterways now under way. President English, of that organization, in an address remarked that "Pittsburg needs a good shaking to wake her up to the realization of the opportunity presented in the near future of 2,500 ton vessels being loaded at her wharves and sent by way of the Lake Erie & Ohio Ship canal, Lake Erie and Erie canal to New York city." The president said further that this was no dream of fancy, but was apt to be realized within the next six years. All of which goes to show the importance of river frontage, and the necessity of cities and towns guarding with jealous care all approaches to the river. What will benefit Pittsburg in the way of improved navigation, will benefit the Monongahela valley and we will reap our share of prosperity along with the big city at the junction of the Monongahela and Allegheny. Now and hereafter let our wharves and landings be taken care of, for the time is coming when they will be of untold value to the citizens and the municipality.

Vulgarity No Irish Trait.

There are certain nations that have the quality of vulgarity strongly in the blood, and indeed it seems to testify to a strong and full blooded vitality, a desire for self assertion, and thus we may expect to find vulgarity dogging like a shadow the footsteps of strong, capable and pushing nationalities. But there are certain nations that have been accused of many faults that yet have never been accused of being vulgar. The Irish are a case in point. They have been accused of levity, of undue conviviality, of frivolity, of a tendency to romance, of untrustworthiness, of irresponsibility, but they have never been accused of vulgarity. There lies deep in the Celtic temperament a rich vein of emotion, a strong relish for the melancholy side of life. It is on this that their incomparable sense of humor is based, and it may be said that no one who feels at home with melancholy, who luxuriates in the strange contrast between the possibilities and the performances of humanity, is in any danger of vulgarity, for one of the essential components of vulgarity is a complacent self satisfaction, and if a man is apt to dwell regretfully on what might have been rather than cheerfully upon what is there is but little room for complacency.—A. C. Benson in Atlantic.

The Kingfisher.

Many and curious are the legends of the kingfisher. One of these is to the effect that the bird was originally a plain gray in color, but upon being let loose from the ark flew toward the setting sun and had its back stained blue by the sky and its lower plumage scorched by the sun to gorgeous hues. The dried body of the kingfisher was once used as a charm against thunderbolts and moths, and it was hung up so that it might point with its bill to the wind's quarter.

The Evil of a Good Name.

"Mammy," said Pickaninny Jim, "why didn't you name me George Washington?" "Sonny," was the answer, "I isn' gwine to name no mo' chillen George Washington. As soon as dey hyahs dat story 'bout not bein' able to tell a lie dey 'pears to git curious to find out whether it's so or not, an' dey starts in spermentin' as soon as dey kin talk."—Washington Star.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then, there's a pain, and finally that excruciating, ceaseless ache This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the overflow, and directs it to the proper channels. It frees the nerve centers from all pressure and irritation—the pains and aches disappear because their cause has been removed You may try a thousand remedies—you may drug and stupify the nerves into submission—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cure will be successful because it reduces the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Medicine has thus found a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia The effect of Dr Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt—perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every circumstance For sale and recommended by

REFORM IDOLS SMASHED

Sensational Outcome of the Breach Between Weaver and Wanamaker Interests.

"NEW MACHINE" THE WORST

Charges of Bribery and Other Damaging Revelations Play Havoc in the Quaker City.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.

Mayor Weaver's break with the Wanamaker-Van Valkenburg-Gordon political combination will have far-reaching influence upon both local and state politics.

It was the power of the city administration of Philadelphia which gave the Wanamakers, Van Valkenburgs and the Gordons a political following in the last campaign. With the Mack combine of ward leaders working in harmony, they had a political machine which drew thousands of votes from the Republican state and local tickets in November last.

Without this antagonistic influence there is no doubt that Mr. Plummer would have been elected state treasurer, and the Republican ticket in Philedalphia would have been successful.

Working with the Wanamaker newspaper combination against the Republican ticket last fall were the politicians who trained with the city administration, the ward leaders seeking patronage, the contractors desiring to "line up with the powers that be," and even the denizens of the tenderloin, always anxious to stand in with the police, shouted loudly for "reform" throughout that campaign.

The City Party was successful, and enough votes were thrown to Berry, the Democratic-Lincolnite nominee for state treasurer, to elect him also.

Then followed a series of plotting and scheming by the ambitious "reformers" eager to take advantage of the situation for their own selfish interests. There were nearly as many candidates for office as there were committeemen in every ward of Philadelphia. Throughout the state men who were active in the counties in the Lincoln Party aggregation began to hunt for the loaves and fishes.

The Wanamaker lieutenants in the insurgent movement against the late Senator Quay were among the most conspicuous of those who immediately demanded recognition.

Promises made to Mayor Weaver and his friends were forgotten, and the old Wanamaker outfit proceeded to set up in business upon its own account.

Combine of Newspapers and Millions.

It was figured out that with the Wanamaker newspapers and the Emery millions, the logical thing to do was to name Emery for governor. To do this the Wanamaker political managers had to first howl out Mayor Weaver as a gubernatorial possibility. They proceeded to set up the Lincoln Party state convention for Emery, and succeeded in landing him upon the ticket for governor. They had a Wanamaker supporter in the old senatorial fight for a place upon the proposed fusion ticket, E. A. Coray, of Luzerne, but they were unable to carry out their program.

While the Democratic leaders assented to the deal, the delegates to the Democratic state convention broke the slate and put John J. Green, a Bryanite Democrat of this city, on the ticket for secretary of internal affairs. This resulted in the fusion ticket having three Bryanite Democrats running on it with Emery for governor.

Mayor Weaver' friends branded the Van Valkenburg-Gordon combine as a band of political traitors, after the Emery game was pulled off. The breech between the mayor and the Wanamaker interests widened day by day, until D. Clarence Gibboney was trotted out by the Wanamakerites as a candidate for the City Party nomination for district attorney against Mayor Weaver's personal friend, Frederick J. Shoyer, who had resigned the $10,000 a year office of director of supplies under the Weaver administration, to make a canvass for the district attorneyship.

Soon the lines were sharply drawn between the Gibboney men and the Shoyerites.

What Weaver Discovered.

All of the Wanamaker newspapers turned in for Gibboney, and their news columns and editorial pages were filled with eulogistic matter designed to promote the Gibboney candidacy. The same newspapers were employed to attack or belittle the mayor and Shoyer. These were the same journals which a few months before had been exploiting Mayor Weaver's administration and praising the mayor and his work without stint.

The mayor soon found that a number of the most influential men in his cabinet were setting up their own political fences regardless of his wishes or his personal interests. Some of them were accused of using the patronage and power of his administration secretly to build up a Van Valkenburg political machine to promote the cause of Gibboney and destroy the chances of Shoyer getting the nomination for district attorney. These officials of the Weaver administration, like certain leaders of the City Party, seem to have concluded that the support of the Wanamaker newspapers, or at least their friendship, was more desirable for them to have than the good will of the mayor.

There was a desperate battle between the Gibboney men, backed by the Wanamaker newspapers, the Van Valkenburg lieutenants in the City Party, the Gordonites and what is left of the old Mack combine and the Shoyer campaigners, many of them young members of the bar or churchmen with whom Mr. Shoyer has been associated for years in church work, and the friends of Mayor Weaver, both in and out of his administration.

Upon the face of the returns of the City Party primaries, Shoyer had a majority of nearly 100 delegates. The Van Valkenburg men had the machinery of the City Party city committee. They named the chairman of the convention, and got control of the committee on contested delegates.

So confident was he of winning that Shoyer was present in the convention hall with his wife prepared to accept the congratulations of his friends when he would be nominanted.

The Mayor Charges Bribery.

The Gibboney men were sparring for time.

They rushed through a resolution for the convention to take a recess, and when the convention reassembled, after much disorder, Mr. Gibboney was declared the nominee by a majority of 29 votes in a total poll of 1072. A change of 15 votes upon this return would have made Shoyer the nominee.

The Shoyer men at once insisted that they had been robbed of victory.

Mayor Weaver was one of the most pronounced in denouncing the men responsible, and repudiating the tactics by which his friend Shoyer was defeated.

In a public statement he said:,

"The methods of that convention were worse than any convention of the old corrupt gang. I think a machine which is protected by newspapers is far more dangerous than the most corrupt organization with newspapers against it.

"I want to say most emphatically that I am as much opposed to a corrupt machine in its incipiency as I am to one that has grown gray with age.

"It seems that notwithstanding the fight I made for 18 months against a machine that a more powerful one had arisen, Phoenix-like, from its ashes.

"I believe the recess of the City Party convention was forced and that during that recess the work of changing delegates was done by means of bribery. Before that time Mr. Shoyer had a majority of the delegates, and he would have received that nomination without question had the convention been continued in session.

"Months ago I pointed out the danger that might follow when if one political machine were destroyed a new and more powerful one might grow up.

"Whether this has come to pass I cannot say. I sometimes wonder whether there is more danger in being surrounded by corrupt advisers than by ambitious ones."

When Mayor Weaver was challenged to prove his charges that bribery was employed to influence the nomination of the convention for Gibbony he promptly accepted the challenge and immediately submitted the affidavits of a number of delegates who admitted they had been approached and he personally appeared before an investigation committee to press his case.

The scandal which followed was a great disappointment to sincere reformers who were not familiar with the character of some of the men who have taken hold of the City Party machinery in some of the wards of the city.

Emery Boomers Chagrined.

Mayor Weaver followed up his interview by demanding the resignations of members of his cabinet, with an announcement that hereafter he proposes to have none but those who shall be directly interested in the success of his administration in his cabinet.

There is no doubt that the upheaval has had a serious effect upon the plans of the managers of the Emery movement and the campaign against the local Republican ticket.

The Lincolnite forces and the City Party leaders are demoralized.

Without the active support of the city administration, the rank and file of their organizations will disintegrate.

There are nearly 10,000 city employes, and the employes of city contractors and others identified with the administration will foot up 10,000 more.

With the mayor and his cabinet working in harmony with the Lincoln Party aggregation last fall fully 15,000 of these men voted for the Lincoln Party ticket and they influenced many thousands more to vote the same way.

Not only has the break between the mayor and the Wanamaker newspapers and allied political interests discouraged the Lincoln Party and City Party leaders, but thousands of voters not identified with any political organization have discovered the hypocrisy and sham of the whole Emery movement in this city and will be found supporting the full Republican ticket in November.

A Combine Without a Following.

Not a few of the politicians in the interior of the state were induced to co-operate with the Lincoln party in the belief that the Van Valkenburg combination in Philadelphia was going to build up a political organization with the patronage of the Weaver administration.

With Weaver and the great army of Philadelphia officeholders cut loose from the Wanamaker-Van Valkenbudg-Gordon interests, the latter have little left but the newspapers, with which they have for years been fighting Republican candidates.

There is evidence on every hand that former City Party men and former Lincolnites are going to support Edwin S. Stuart and all of his colleagues on the Republican ticket.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

DR. IMBERG UNDER BOND

Arrested Today for Practicing in the State Without First Obtaining a License.

Dr. H. Imberg was arrested this morning at the instigation of Chief of Police Woolsey and was arraigned before Squire James A. Watkins but a hearing was waived and the doctor gave bail in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next term of court. Dr. Imberg is a Finlander and came to Monessen a few weeks ago from Illinois and became an assistant to Dr. Wirebeck and commenced the practice of medicine. Chief of police Woolsey brought suit against the man for practicing in the state without a license. The laws of the state require a person after graduating to have a certificate from the state board of examiners and to be registered with the prothonotary of the county. This Chief Woolsey claims has not been done and consequently the suit was brought.

Immediately after his arrest Dr. Imberg went to Pittsburg for the purpose of employing an attorney and says he will fight the case.

The British Toastmaster.

The British banquet differs from the American only in that the chairman presides, but does not keep order or announce the toasts. That is attended to by a professional toastmaster, who is a large person with a volcanic voice. While the guests are assembling he stands at the doorway and announces the names of the arrivals, who are then greeted by the chairman and passed into the push. When the guests are seated he takes up his station behind the chair of the presiding officer and commands order in these terms: "My lords and gentlemen, I pray you silence. We will now listen to the toast to his imperial majesty the German emperor, responded to by his excellency the lord chancellor." For the rest the speeches drawl and drag, as in New York, with now and then a sprinkle of wit or a flash of mental energy, usually from some unexpected quarter. The turtle soup is no better than ours. The toastmaster gets $10 for a night's work. New York World.
